Passives (Present Simple Passive)

TOPIC 1 · RULE

https://www.mauthor.com/present/5360492155109376

Form

Present simple passive is formed using am/is/are + past participle.

These laptops are made in China. (affirmative)

Eating is not allowed in the library. (negative)

Are the flowers watered every day? (question form)

Our classrooms are cleaned every day.

Meaning

The passive voice is used when we want to focus on the action rather than the person or thing that does the action.

Active: The man drives the taxi every day. (The focus is on the person doing the action.)

Passive: The taxi is driven by the man every day. (The focus is on the action.)

Clauses and Phrases (Participle Clauses)

TOPIC 3 · RULE

There are 3 types (Present Participle/ Past Participle/ Perfect Participle).

USE

Present participle clauses

- To give the result of an action:

Taxes went up this year, forcing people to cut spending. (... which forced...)

- To give the reason for an action:

Knowing it was her birthday, I decided to buy a cake. (Because I knew...)

- To talk about two actions at the same time:

Hearing my alarm go off, I realised it was time to get up. (As I heard my alarm...)

- To add information about the main clause:

Starting from tomorrow, all rooms will have to be booked in advance. (All rooms will have to be booked in advance, which will start from tomorrow.)

Use

Past participle clauses

- To give the reason for an action:

Annoyed by the noise outside, she closed the window. (Because she was annoyed…)

- To add information about the main clause:

Tired and bored, he turned off the light and went to sleep. (He was tired and bored…)

- To describe a condition:

Done correctly, yoga can be very beneficial for your health. (If you do it correctly…)

Use

Perfect participle clauses

- To show the action had already happened before the information in the main clause

Having finished his homework, John went downstairs for dinner. (After he had finished…)

Having decided where to go, they set off on their trip. (After they had decided…)

Having been painted, the house looked a lot nicer. (After the house had been painted…)

Determiners (demonstratives)

TOPIC 4 · RULE

Use this / these / that / those. https://www.mauthor.com/present/5302434666250240

Meaning

We use this, that, these, and those to explain what we are talking about.
We use this (singular) and these (plural) to talk about things close to us:

I like this car. The car here in front of me.
I like these cars. More than one car here in front of me.

*I like that car. T*he car over there.
I like those cars. More than one car over there.

Form

We can use this, that, these, and those before a noun:

Can I have this cake, please?
I would like that picture over there.
Can I have these cakes, please?
I would like those pictures over there.

We can also use this, that, these, and those on their own:

Wow, this is good.
That looks nice.
Wow, these are good.
Those look nice.

Use / Function

To express the idea of here and there:

This museum is really interesting.*
*(*We are in the museum.)
That museum sounds interesting.*
*(*We are not in the museum. It is some distance away).

To show distance in time:

This is a good match. (We are watching the match now.)
That was a good match. (We watched the match some time in the past).

To replace a noun when it is obvious what the noun is
I've never seen a match as good as this.
